What About Tacoma Churches?

By

Dr. Marvin R. Schafer

NOTE: FOR THE PRESENT no portion of the following may be quoted in any form without permission of the writer. Indebtedness to the Foundation for Social Research in Medical Care, Dr. John Schlarb, Jr., Director, and the Works Progress Administration must be recognized for the original material and assistance in compiling the information. However, they are not responsible for the interpretations or reproduction of facts as presented here. A portion of this material was gathered for a report made to the State department of Public Welfare. This represents a preliminary report, but there were some facts which we thought would be of interest to College of Puget Sound alumni.

What about the churches in Tacoma? Like many other cities, Tacoma has a superabundance of small churches. It also has more than the usual number of missions.

It was possible to locate 143 groups that could be described as churches or missions. We could not obtain information as to the number of members from 27 (17 of these were the "regular mission" type, with no stated membership, three were small branch groups, three were Catholic churches, all but one being the smaller churches, three were the small Christian Science groups and eight others, all of which were small churches). Of those from which we received no information, ten would probably have reported a membership of over one hundred, and none of them over five hundred, according to our most careful estimates.

Of the hundred and four which made definite reports, 23 churches had less than 50 members, 19 churches had less than 100, 23 churches had more than 100 but less than 200, 15 more had 200 but less than 300 and 9 from 301 to 500 while 14 churches had from 501 to 1000 and three more churches had 1000. It is generally recognized by authorities in the field (Hoffer, Rural Sociology, p. 409) (and others), that there should be a population of 1000 for each church if it is to be adequately supported. On that basis Tacoma is "over-churched" about 33%.

At least 84 out of the total of 143 churches had less than 200 members, or 60% less than is recognized as an absolute minimum for any type of church if there is to be even a semblance of adequate support for church activities and personel. Only 16% of the churches had a large enough financial income to provide a "living wage" for the minister. Recreational activities and space were most limited in those churches located in areas most needing that type of service, due to a scarcity of resources and facilities in the homes and in the community in that area. In most cases those areas which call for the fullest and most widely diversified program were areas in which, in the main, the program is most limited and stereotyped. In one locality there are 25 churches in an area seven blocks square, only one of these churches having more than 300 members. This locality is also one of very heavy juvenile delinquency. Certainly there is need for Christian Statesmanship and some giving and forgiving, if Christianity is to meet the needs of this city—or even to save itself.

And what about the people?

Twenty-thousand families in Tacoma were asked if they were members of, or preferred, a certain church, and most of them replied. About twelve thousand five hundred individuals said they were Catholics, eighty-five hundred that they were Lutherans, eight thousand that they were Methodists, six thousand indicated that they were Presbyterian in preference and forty-five hundred that they looked toward the Baptist church. Disciples (Christian) and Episcopalians were equally represented with twenty-four hundred. Seventeen hundred indicated a preference for the Christian Science church and fourteen hundred for the Congregational, and nine hundred as Pentecostals. Twelve thousand indicated that they preferred the "Protestant" group but designated no particular church, and five thousand indicated no denominational preference.

And what about the people who designated these preferences? Was there any major difference in the average economic level or educational attainment? How many of them attended church as frequently as once a month and how many were members who did not attend, and how many merely "preferred?" The Hollerith cards on which the results from the schedules were punched also yielded an answer to these questions.

Education. The Congregational, Episcopal, Presbyterian, Christian Science and Jewish groups had the smallest percentage of those having eight years of education or less, varying in the order named from 22½ to 33%. The Methodist, Disciples and Baptists fell in the next group having about 40% with an eighth grade education or less. The "Protestant" preference found 43% with less than eight years of school achievement while the Lutheran, the Catholic, the Pentecostal groups, and more than half of those of "no denomination" had never gone beyond the eighth grade. When we asked how many had gone beyond the Sophomore year in college we found another interesting contrast. Twenty percent of the Congregational group had three years of college or more while only 1½% of the Pentecostal group had gone beyond the sophomore year, (in fact less than half had gone beyond high school). Fifteen percent of the Episcopalian and 10% of the Presbyterian had returned to college for at least the third year. Of the remaining groups less than ten percent of each group had gone to college. Jews formed the highest percentage followed by the Methodists, Christian Scientists, Baptists, Christians, Protestants, those stating no denominational preference, Lutherans, and Catholics in the order named.

Naturally, educational attainment is not taken as proof of worth or assurance of grace. Also the larger ratios of Lutheran and Catholic are understood when we recognize that locally those groups are recruited from immigrants of the second immigration to a greater extent than some of the others, the Polish and Balkan groups affecting the Catholic statistics and the Scandinavian groups the Lutheran figures. Children under 25 in these respective groups do not show as marked variation in educational achievements.

What of the income levels? The Congregational group again had the largest number reporting more than $2000 annual income, 25% of them reporting having received more than $2000. The Jewish group reported 20% of their number having a family income larger than that figure. Then followed the Episcopalians, Presbyterians, Christian Scientists, and the Methodists in order named being from 19 to 10%. All of the others had less than 10% of their number with a family income in excess of $2000, the Pentecostals reporting only 1¼% of their number having that income.

When we turn to those receiving an income of less than $600 we find that 29% of the Congregational and Episcopalian groups so reported, and 55% of the Pentecostals. The balance ranged from 30 to 40%, all except the Baptists, Catholics, and Lutherans falling within that range.

Turning to the matter of attendance, we find that the largest percentage of those reporting a Pentecostal preference attended church (55%) while only 36% of those expressing a preference for the Episcopalian church attended service as frequently as once a month. An additional 40% of the Episcopalians stated they were members but did not attend. About 45% of the other groups expressed themselves as attending (the Christian Science group being one exception with 52% attending). About 25% usually stated that they were members but did not attend. Forty percent of the Catholics however described themselves as members but not attending, while only 15% indicated merely a preference. Other religious denominations were the "preference" of about 25% of those returning answers. (Maps were also made of the distribution of rates for each of the various religious groups but those results cannot be presented here).

Apparently, religious groups do differ markedly in educational background and economic resources as well as in loyalty to the preferred or professed faith.

'Do You Remember?'

By DR. EDWARD H. TODD

Do you remember what the sophomores tried to do to you and your freshman classmates? Did they do it, or did they not? Do you remember what you tried to do to the freshmen? Did you do it, or did you not?

You do remember some things well, and some you have conventionally forgotten. The challenges issued between classes were a vital part of your college career.

On March 17, 1938 it will be fifty years since Messrs. W. H. Fife, David Lister, Calvin S. Barlow, David G. LeSourd and John DeVore filed the articles of incorporation at Olympia and your Alma Mater began its life. All will agree that a proper celebration of that event next year is eminently proper.

Five different locations have been held by the institution during these fifty years. There have likewise been many crises during that period. The College has now attained an honorable position and is widely known among the institutions of higher learning of the world.

In whatever celebration may be held of the 50th anniversary, former students and members of the present student body must take a very active part. The present student body will attempt to rally the alumni. The officers of the alumni organization will be team mates holding degrees conferred by the College.

One item that should interest every class is the plan to place in the cement walk the numerals of all the classes which have graduated from the College, beginning with 1893. These numerals will be unveiled with proper ceremony sometime during the celebration. It is desired that as many members of each class as possible shall be present to participate in that ceremony.

Let us once again issue those freshman-sophomore challenges. The same relations exist between those classes today, which existed through your college career. Awaken once again the spirit of friendly class rivalry! Let every class be on its toes to show its competing classes of days past that it is still alive and able to put on a good race!

Plans are being developed to have on the present campus some tangible structure composed of materials which were on the campus when you attended the institution. These physical reminders will serve in a slight measure to take the place of the old buildings. You will hear more of this from your quadrant secretary on the campus. When he communicates with you, please respond immediately, for these young people will have a great task on their hands. Remember, the success of the 50th anniversary celebration depends in large measure upon the students and alumni.

Please keep it in mind that you are laying the foundations for the celebration at the end of another fifty years. Give the second fifty years an additional impetus which will be remembered when that time has

Summer School Starts June 14

Dr. R. L. Powell, professor in the education department, will direct the College of Puget Sound summer school this year, which will extend from June 14 to August 27. The faculty will consist of members of the College faculty and guest professors. Courses will be offered in all departments.

The seven guest professors include Miss Elizabeth Webster, elementary school supervisor at Grand Rapids, Michigan, who will take charge of instruction in elementary education; Dr. Gordon E. Alcorn, alumnus of the College and now in the department of biology at the University of Idaho, who will offer instruction on birds; Dr. Howard A. Coombs, department of geology, at the University of Washington; Mrs. Jeanne Gloman Richardson, a native of France, who will handle the classes in French; Dr. Frank G. Williston, who recently returned from the Far East; Herman M. Myhrman, alumnus who will teach classes in botany; Phillip R. Carlson, alumnus now teaching in the department of physics at the University of Washington, who will give instruction in physics; Mrs. Lydia E. Phelps, teacher of special classes in the Tacoma schools, who will offer courses in handicrafts and Amory R. Haynes of Tacoma, who will teach mathematics.

The activities of the classroom, however, constitute only a part of the program. Conducted tours and week-end trips, weekly assemblies, lectures, musical and dramatic entertainments will be scheduled.

Alumni and friends may secure further information by writing or calling Dr. Powell at the College.

'Senator' Returns

Prof. Walter S. Davis recently returned to his work at the College after being confined to the Tacoma General Hospital for five weeks with an infected foot.

DIRECTOR

DR. R. L. POWELL

Quadrant Heads Are Appointed

As the initial step in the proper organization of the four quadrants, secretaries have been appointed by the Alumni Secretary from the membership of the College body. The four secretaries are as follows: Miss Dorothy Belle Harriss, '37, for Quadrant 1; Clarence Keating, '38, for Quadrant 2; Miss Elizabeth Hardison, '39 for Quadrant 3 and Richard Sloat, '40, for Quadrant 4.

These secretaries will be the clearing house for all matters pertaining to quadrant undertakings and festivities. The most immediate task will be the organization of the various classes for the unveiling of numerals during the 50th Anniversary Celebration in 1938. These secretaries will contact the members of the quadrants and secure representatives for each of the graduating classes.

The secretary of the quadrant whose class is graduating will be in charge of the reunion for that quadrant on Commencement Day. Miss Harriss will notify all members of Quadrant 1 this year.

Plan Second Alumni College

The Alumni College, a feature that was begun last year, will be held again this year in the evening of Commencement Day, June 7. The experiences of last year's gathering will be utilized to provide a larger and better program for those who attend this year.

The first school brought out approximately seventy five alumni, who went away enthused at the possibilities of such an evening's program. Courses in World Affairs, Literature and Economics were offered. These courses will again be part of the program which will include new courses suggested by the alumni. The Alumni Secretary asks that you write us stating what subjects you would like to have given in addition to those mentioned. Any other suggestions will also be welcomed.

As was the case last year, no charge will be made. The members of the regular College faculty are willing to give their services for this enterprise. An effort will be made to secure some guest lecturers of prominence to cover special fields.

Those who plan to attend are asked to notify the Alumni Secretary at the College as soon as possible. Further details of the program will be given in the next issue of this publication.

WANTED

Photographs of Presidents Joseph E. Williams and Julius C. Zeller are wanted. Enlargements of portraits of six of the eight former presidents of the College have already been made. So far we have been unable to secure the photographs of the two presidents named above. We should like to have them at an early date, and will return them to the owners after the enlargements are made. Please send the photographs to Mr. Leonard Brown of the Tacoma Engraving Company, or to President Todd.

Group Reunions

During the month of March the work of the Alumni Association took a big step forward with the organization of two alumni groups in the state of California. The first to be organized was the Northern California group and the second the Southern California. The alumni were assisted by President Edward H. Todd and Rev. John S. Bell, field secretary for the College, who were in California on business and present at both reunions.

The arrangements for the Southern California gathering, which was held at the Ontra Cafeteria in Los Angeles, March 29, were made by Rev. Russell E. Clay, '22, and his committee. Edward E. Amende, ex '25, was chairman for the committee, which was attended by approximately thirty alumni of that territory.

In view of the fact that no formal report of the meeting has been received as yet the following list of those present is not complete: Mrs. Harry Pope, who drove 80 miles to attend the meeting; Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Amende (Alice May Raymond, '26), Prof. Walter Enochs, Mr. and Mrs. James Knox (Harriet June Thomas, '13), Minard Fasset, '29, Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Earle, ex '18; Claude L. Turley, ex '21; Mrs. Archie Smith (Pansy Lawrence, '15); Mrs. E. Simpson, ex '17 (Lois Noble); Arthur Gilmore, ex '34; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sutton, ex '20; Jack Worden, ex '32; D. W. Noble, Elverton Stark, '29; and Steve Arnett, ex '23. We regret that we do not have the complete list at the present time. However, we shall publish the others in the next issue.

Mr. Sutton was elected chairman of the organization and will be in charge of activities for the coming year and arrangements for the next reunion. Rev. Clay was unable to attend because of the serious illness of his wife.

George G. Calkins was in charge of arrangements for the gathering in San Francisco on March 25 of the alumni living in Northern California. The reunion was held in the Manx Hotel. As part of the program a reception was held in the afternoon for President Todd. Many alumni who were unable to attend the banquet in the evening availed themselves of the opportunity to meet him at the reception.

Those who called in the afternoon included the following: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Brear, '30, (Eloise Sanders '30); Edward L. Mills, '35; Shigeo Tanabe, '31; and Mrs. Roy Williams, ex '29. The banquet in the evening was attended by the following: Mr. and Mrs. George Calkins and daughter; Theodore Evans, '27; Dr. Earle Sheafe, '06, President Todd, Rev. Bell and Lyman Pierce.

Mr. Calkins was elected chairman of the group and Dr. Sheafe, secretary. Already plans have been made for another reunion this spring.

We wish to acknowledge the courtesy shown the College by Harvey M. Toy, manager of the Manx Hotel, for making his hostelry available for the reception.

Another highlight of the above meetings was the interest shown by those who were unable to attend. Many wrote letters expressing regret over the fact that they could not be present.

Thurston County alumni met March 2 at the Methodist church in Olympia for their annual meeting. Mrs. Ralph C. Brown, '28, was chairman for the affair. Entertainment was furnished by the Dramatic Art department of the College and Robert Eccles, '34. President Edward H. Todd and Dean John D. Register represented the College. Mrs. Brown was reelected chairman of the group. Miss Evelyn Churchill '30, is the new secretary.

Rev. W. E. Stanton, '30, was chairman of the meeting of Grays Harbor County alumni on April 6 at the home of Mrs. J. Homer Magee, '29, in Hoquiam, Washington. Dean Register brought news of the 50th Anniversary celebration to the group. Officers elected include Mrs. Magee, chairman, Rev. Stanton, vice chairman and Robert Evans, '31, treasurer.

The Y. W. C. A. Tea Room was the setting for the annual reunion of Seattle alumni, March 15 A. E. Marlatt, '11, was chairman of the get-together which featured talent from the College student body. Mr. Marlatt plans to call another meeting for the purpose of electing officers and discussing other matters relative to the business of the group.

'Just for Fun'

Here are ten questions testing your knowledge concerning the College of Puget Sound. Just for fun—see how many you can answer. For the answers, look on page 14—but don't look until you have tried all of them.

1. When was the institution first incorporated?
2. In what other city was the College located for a time?
3. How many members are there on the faculty?
4. How large an endowment does it have?
5. What type of architecture has been used on the buildings?
6. What three different names has the College had?
7. How many presidents has the school had?
8. What was the first large gift to the College?
9. Who was the first four-year student to graduate?
10. When did the institution move to the present location?

VARSITY ATHLETIC PROGRAM OUTLINED

The spring sport program is in full sway with baseball, track, tennis and golf holding the spotlight for the remainder of the year. Coach Joey Mack is directing the diamond team, which last year won the Conference title, in an effort to bring another flag to the College. However, the loss of several of last year's mainstays made it necessary to build an entirely new outfit from a few hold-overs and incoming frosh athletes.

To date the Maroon and White has defeated St. Martin's College and lost a close tilt to the Tacoma Tigers of the Western International League. The chief weakness is the pitching staff with only one veteran, Larry Ragan, in uniform and only one other reliable chucker Frank Pavalunas, available. Bob Ramsey diminutive catcher, has clinched that position. He is a letterman from last year.

Emmet Oakerlund, frosh, has been stationed at first; Bob Morris, promising frosh athlete, at second; Dan Mullen, letterman, at third and Capt. Johnny Milroy at short. Ed Burklund, a three-year veteran has left field tucked away safely. Leo Yuckert, a frosh, and Alex Schwetz, outstanding grid performer, cavort in center and right, respectively.

The track squad, with Roy H. Sandberg as head mentor, assisted by Raymond Seward and O. F. Hite, lost a close meet to the University of British Columbia squad and defeated Willamette University last week. The Loggers are strongest in the field events with Norm Mayer, a consistent winner in the shot and discus, Bud McFadden a contender with the javelin, and a frosh, Bernard Remson, who has reached close to 12 feet in the pole vault, available.

Louis O. Grant is again in charge of varsity tennis and golf.

Queen Dorothy Ann

DOROTHY ANN SIMPSON

Miss Dorothy Ann Simpson, popular senior, was crowned Queen of the May at the May Day festival held at the College on Friday, April 30. Miss Simpson had as her attendants, Miss Gladys Harding and Miss Lora Bryning

Miss Helen Stalwick, vice president of the student body, was chairman for the event, which was held in the afternoon. Duchesses from neighboring high schools were invited to take part in the ceremony. Representatives from the classes include Miss Phyllis Swanson, senior; Miss Maurita Shank, junior; Miss Jane Carlson, sophomore and Miss Ruth Raymond, freshman.

GORDON TUELL ELECTED PRESIDENT

Gordon Tuell, prominent junior, took over the duties as president of the student body two weeks ago succeeding Miss Dorothy Belle Harriss, who assumed the office when Maurice Webster left school. Tuell defeated Valen Honeywell, Clarence Keating, and John Clark to gain the honor.

Others elected to student body offices for the coming year are the following: Miss Helen Stalwick, vice president; Miss Barbara Beardsley, secretary; Miss Betty Bannister, sophomore representative to Central Board; James Docherty, junior representative; Clark Gould, senior representative; Carl Klemme, yell leader; John McDonnell and Gene O'Donnell, yell dukes; Miss Dorothy Ann Simpson, May Queen; Miss Lora Bryning and Miss Gladys Harding, attendants.

Miss Ruth Leo and Herb Clark have been recommended for the positions of editor and business manager, respectively, of the Trail and Miss Margaret Sines and Carl Klemme for the same respective positions on the Tanager. These recommendations will be acted upon by Central Board.

SPONSOR PLAY DAY

Ten high schools from all parts of the state were entertained on April 24 by the Women's Athletic Association of the College at the first high school play day. Approximately 50 representatives from Auburn, Buckley, Enumclaw, Fife, Kent, Puyallup, Highline, Sumner and Yelm attended.

A program of stunts, posture parade, game demonstrations and social activity was presented under the chairmanship of Miss Mary Fay Fulton, senior.

CARNEGIE GROUP HONORS LIBRARIAN

Warren L. Perry, librarian of the College, was recently selected by the Carnegie corporation advisory group as one of the five trained and experienced librarians to visit and study junior college libraries of this country. He left April 20 for a two week's tour to visit junior colleges in Aberdeen, Parkland, Spokane and Yakima in Washington and Billings, Havre, Butte and Missoula in Montana.

The advisory group was formed in 1934 to study the development of junior college libraries while they are in a formative state, and report to the corporation. Members of the group include ten professors and librarians selected from all parts of the nation.

Statistics from more than 300 junior college libraries have been compiled and analyzed and from this activity a statement of standards for junior college libraries will be formulated.

Mr. Perry has been the College's librarian since 1927, in which position he has built up the library to the high position it now has.

DEBATERS WIN

In competition with women orators from colleges and universities in eight states, Miss Elizabeth Hardison won second place at the Pi Kappa Delta meet held recently in Stockton, California. Further honors came to the College when the team of Marie and Margaret Gilstrap won second place in the junior college division of women's debate.

The meet in Stockton climaxed another successful debate season for the College. In addition to gathering many honors for the institution, the department again sponsored a high school and a junior college tournament on the campus, which brought hundreds of visitors to the College.

Dr. Charles T. Battin, professor of Economics, has acted as coach and Robert Byrd as debate manager during the past year.

Choral Society Trip

PROF. JOHN PAUL BENNETT

The Adelpian Choral Society left May 2 on a two-weeks' tour of eastern Washington and parts of Idaho. The group is directed by Prof. John Paul Bennett and is composed of 24 members who have been rehearsing all year.

The complete itinerary is as follows: Sunday, May 2, Ellensburg; Monday, May 3, Yakima; Tuesday, May 4, Toppenish; Wednesday, May 5, Sunnyside; Thursday, May 6, Pasco; Friday, May 7, Dayton; Saturday, May 8, Lewiston, Idaho; Tuesday, May 11, Ritzville; Wednesday, May 12, Wenatchee; Thursday, May 13, Cashmere; and Friday, May 14, the home concert in Jones Hall auditorium.

SPEECH CONTEST

The first collegiate after-dinner speaking contest to be held in this state will be sponsored by the College of Puget Sound on Friday, May 7, as a result of a decision made recently by representatives from St. Martin's College, Seattle Pacific College and the College of Puget Sound. Two entrants from each institution will be chosen.

The general topic will be "America's Mass Manias." Specific topics will be chosen by the speakers in the afternoon and after three hours preparation contestants will give the speeches at a banquet in the evening.

Charles MacLean of the College is the director and will also act as toastmaster at the banquet.

PLAYCRAFTERS OFFER BROADWAY HIT

The Campus Playcrafters under the direction of Miss Martha Pearl Jones will present as the final dramatic production of the year, Lawrence Riley's Broadway hit, "Personal Appearance," May 7 in Jones Hall auditorium at 8:15 p. m. Miss Gladys Harding and Gordon Tuell will have the leading roles.

The story concerns the humorous readjustments made necessary when a movie queen is forced because of the breakdown of her automobile on a personal appearance tour to enter the life of a Pennsylvania family. An adaption of Riley's work recently appeared on the screen under the title of "Go West Young Man." Mae West was seen as the movie queen and Warren William as her publicity agent.

SELECT NEW SPURS

Fifteen women of the Freshman Class were recently pledged to Spurs, national service honorary for women. The women were chosen on the basis of school activities, scholarship, character and personality, to carry on the ideals of the national Spur organization.

MUSIC FESTIVAL

Another step forward making the College of Puget Sound campus the center of activity for high school contests was taken recently when the College was host for the Vocal and Instrumental Solo Competitive Festival among Washington high schools on April 17.

German Camp On Orcas Island

The German Summer Camp, sponsored by the German departments of the College of Puget Sound, University of Washington and Reed College will be held on Orcas Island from August 2 to August 22. Heads of the German departments in the above schools have planned the program. Dr. Warren E. Tomlinson of the College of Puget Sound will be Camp Director.

An interesting program has been arranged consisting of hikes, trips, nature walks, organized sports, folk dancing, pottery, astronomy, in addition to instruction along special lines of German literature, language culture etc. Campfire programs at which time plays, readings, games and essays will be offered will be held two or three times a week. Singing will also play an important part in the camp program.

No formal classes for credit will be given. However, those deficient in German grammar or vocabulary may take advantage of the large number of instructors present to secure private tutoring singly or in groups of two or three at the rate of one dollar per lesson.

Qualifications for admission are sufficient knowledge of grammar and vocabulary to assure a moderate speaking knowledge of German. The minimum would be the equivalent of one year of college German. However, no definite rules will be set. All are welcome to enroll. For further information write to Dr. Tomlinson.

Mail Statements

Statements will soon be in the mail for those who have payments due in May on the Alumni Loyalty Share Fund pledges. We thank those of you who have been prompt with your remittances and urge those who have not paid as yet to send in a remittance as soon as possible or write this office informing us when we may expect payment.

NATIONAL PRESIDENT

SKIERS RATE HIGH

The College of Puget Sound ski team placed second in the recent Pacific Coast Ski tournament at Paradise Valley. The only team to outshine the Logger skiers was the powerful University of Washington team. The Puget Sound team placed above Stanford, University of California, Yale and Fresno State College, the other contestants.

On the strength of its fine showing this year the team has been invited to five meets for next winter, including the Yosemite meet in California. It is possible that with continued improvement that the skiers may invade eastern states for meets.

'DO YOU REMEMBER?'

passed. That can be done through a "talkie," taken during this celebration. Get into it.

Next year will be the twenty-fifth year of my presidency of your Alma Mater. It has been my high privilege to confer approximately 85% of all the degrees which have been conferred during these first fifty years. For this reason I might be considered, at least for that period, your "Alma Pater." I pledge you that once again I will play my part. May I be assured that you will play yours? If that is done, it will be a great celebration, and its influence will extend down through the years. Give us your suggestions.

With this message we are off to waken memories and to celebrate those memories in the greatest "bag rush" of the fifty years!

Did You Know?

1. That the College of Puget Sound wrote the Constitution of the Chinese Republic?

Herbert Magnusson, who entered the College in 1918, was at one time secretary to the man who wrote the Chinese Constitution. The work was typewritten by Mr. Magnusson.

2. That the College of Puget Sound stopped the German advance at Chateau-Thierry during the World War?

The late Rev. F. A. La Violette, '99, was representing the Y. M. C. A. in an American regiment. His headquarters was in a barn loft. One day in the midst of the battle of Chateau-Thierry a homing pigeon flew into the barn. Rev. La Violette found on its leg a message from a German commander to his superior officer stating that he must have reinforcements at once—that he could not hold his position any longer. The message was given to the French general, who ordered a charge along the frontier. Orders flew thick and fast and the Germans were driven back. From that time on there was no retreating on the part of the allies. Soon General Foch ordered a forward movement along the whole allied front. By finding the message on the homing pigeon, Rev. La Violette discovered the desperate situation of the Germans—a fact that was not known to the Allies at that time.

Celebration Plans

In the next issue of the ALUMNUS we hope to be able to announce definitely the general plans for the celebration. The different committees are being created now, but all members cannot be selected before next fall. Enthusiasm on the campus concerning the celebration is growing every week.

President Todd will welcome suggestions from any source. Send them in while the inspiration is upon you, and in the early stages of the planning.
